

CHANGING FASHIONS IN FOOD

Viands That Were Considered Indispensable Centuries Ago Have Entirely Disappeared.

The art of cooking has declined, and that is in part due to the changing fashions in food.

For instance, in Germany in the middle ages many vegetables were eaten which have long since disappeared from the table, such as violet leaves mixed with young nettles, thistles and green wheat, and boiled hemp seeds.

Salads were made of mallow leaves, celery roots and purslane mixed with salt and pepper, for oil was almost unknown. Olive oil was considered to smack of effeminacy and Italian luxury. Horseradish sauce was used instead.

The origin of sauerkraut is lost in antiquity. But it was certainly invented by the German hausfrau long before cauliflowers or artichokes or potatoes were known.

The potato revolutionized the fare of the poor, who had formerly to rely on the roots of wild plants. The variety of meats was larger, including beavers, and in the case of Berne bears were kept for food. Spices and aromatics were much sought after and far more used for cooking.

Ginger and nutmeg were used to flavor many dishes that have now vanished from our tables. And fortunately in this country and Germany the dishes of small birds of all kinds that were an essential feature of a dinner have also gone out of fashion. We no longer bake black-birds and finches in pies.

WAS NOT DREADED "TABBY"

Members of Cat-Fearing Family Almost Worked Themselves Into Hysterics Over Harmless Objects.

A daughter of the household, especially panicky where cats are concerned, was sitting peacefully in the firelight at the witching hour. Suddenly she noticed a black something on the radiator. Finally the object developed fur, black fur, and two yellow eyes. Even a faint meow was borne to the ears of the horrified woman. She frantically called the maid. The maid also had acquired the family fear of cats.

Uttering a shriek, she rushed upstairs to call the other daughter of the cat-fearing family. Not having seen the frightful black object, the daughter upstairs thought the maid had suddenly gone mad. Since calmness was necessary in such cases, she would be calm. She would humor the maid in her hallucination, and together they descended the stairs. Horrors, it was true! There was a black cat.

Rallying all their courage and armed with pokers and brooms, they stealthily approached the radiator and found—not a black cat with frightful yellow eyes, but a pair of shiny new overshoes!—Indianapolis News.

"GUNMAN" HAS REFORMED.

"Bald Jack" Rose, whose testimony sent Police Lieutenant Charles Becker and four gunmen to the death house at Sing Sing for murder has repented his gambling and graft collecting days and become an evangelist.

The present purpose of the former underworld leader is to spend the coming years in religious and welfare work, that is if his one-time associates do not carry out the threats they have frequently made of "getting" him.

When Rose left the Tombs he said he was through with gambling and the old life. He bought a farm at Westport and lived there with his family. For some time he wrote for newspapers regarding the life of the underworld in which he had been a conspicuous figure, and some of his writings have been put into book form.

CONSCIENTIOUS CARE.

"I want you to be particularly careful," said Senator Sorghum. "You mean with this speech?" said the stenographer.

"That isn't a speech. It's a lecture. A speech may merely kill time, but a lecture is expected to be the real money's worth."

THE REASON.

"Why is it," asked the feminine orator, "that the majority of women will not make big, determinative strides towards freedom?"

"I don't," volunteered one of her hearers, "because their heads are too small to let 'em."

CIRCUIT COURT

Winding-Up the Common Law Docket This Week.

Jas. Crawley vs L. & N. Railroad Co., agreed judgment for $25. Crawley got off a train and missed his train.

The case of McCrae vs L. & N. Railroad Co. was submitted to the jury yesterday morning. McCrae was the negro porter at the station who was killed while getting on or off a train that had stopped at the station. It was charged that he was pushed off the platform.

The case of W. H. Carter vs L. O. Garrett was on trial yesterday.

The case of Tony Datillo vs the L. & N. Railroad Co. was continued.

The case of Millie Bryant vs the I. C. Railroad and the Cadiz Railroad is next on the docket. The plaintiff is the negro woman who was hit by a trunk that fell off a truck at Gracey.

Judge Hanbery is right up with his common law docket and will take up equity matters next week.

Purely Personal.

Mrs. Price Smith arrived yesterday from Atlanta to be with her sister, Mrs. Haywood Richards, who is quite sick at the home of Mr. Geo. E. Randle.

L. H. McKee went to Franklin, Ky., yesterday on business.

Mrs. W. S. Hancock, of near Fairview, is spending a few days with her mother, Mrs. W. H. Everett, on North Main.

Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Hanbery arrived here Thursday from St. Louis, where they spent the past six months, and will visit friends and relatives for a few days before going to Cadiz.

C. O. Wright has returned from Hot Springs, Ark.

E. L. Hendrix, of near Crofton, has accepted the principalship of the Commercial Department of a large business college at Columbia, S. C.

Got Him Excited.

Politics was at the boiling point in the negro ward, and the lemon-colored henchman undertook to air his superior knowledge in the argument with the ebullient brother. "Yes, sub," he declared, speaking of a candidate, "he just a neophyte in politics, just a neophyte." "Why that man done told onah club las' night he wuz strong 'Publi-can," excitedly declared the other. "When dat new party start up?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. There are one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

GOING UP

Are The Walls of The New Creamery.

The Peter Fox Sons Co., have let the contract for their creamery building and the brick work is well advanced. Dalton Bros. are doing the brick work and W. H. Hester has the concrete floors, platforms, etc. The building is on the east side of the canning factory building, devoted to the poultry business of the Fox Company.

MR. JAMES' WILL.

Property Goes to Wife During Her Life-Time.

The will of the late A. M. James was admitted to probate yesterday. To his wife, Mrs. S. A. James, he bequeathed all of his property during her life time, excepting a horse and buggy which was left to Otis M. James. At the death of his wife the homestead known as the Stephens farm goes to Otis M. James and the John R. Brown place is to be divided among his heirs.

The will was made December 17 last.

CONFERENCE

In Louisville April 7 Looking To Rural Betterment.

There will be an educational conference in Louisville April 7 to 10 that is attracting widespread attention. It is the 17th annual session of an association having for its purposes the betterment of country schools, country life generally and all kinds of rural development. An effort is being made to have Hopkinsville well represented.

Had Him Worrying.

"Alphonse," the American girl asked her titled husband one evening, "why have you been so strange and cold of late?" "Didn't you tell me last week that your father was failing?" "Yes—physically failing," she replied. "Oh!" and his look brightened. He heaved a sigh of relief. "Oh," said he, "that's all right, then! I thought it was something serious."—Princeton Tiger.

Had Lost Place.

Gertrude, aged three, sat in her high chair at the dinner table turning about in her fingers a small ear of corn from which she had been nibbling a row at a time. Suddenly she burst into tears. "What is the matter, dear?" asked her mother. "I've lost my place!" sobbed the little one.—The Delineator.

Unlucky Thirteen.

Convicted of making false election returns, thirteen election officials in New Jersey were sentenced to the State prison.

Not Broke Yet.

The American Express Company will erect a thirty-two-story office building in New York.

MARRIED LAST YEAR

Event Kept a Secret Until this Week.

The secret marriage of a popular young couple of Northeast Christian which was solemnized in Clarksville November 3, 1913, has just leaked out. The contracting parties are Lester Cavanah and Miss Ethel Rogers, of near Carl. After the ceremony was performed the young people returned to their respective homes and their closest friends were not apprised of the wedding. About Christmas the young lady accompanied her mother to Florida to spend the winter. This week Mr. Cavanah left for Florida to join his bride and they will reside in that State. Just before leaving the groom made known the fact of the marriage.

DROPPED ELEPHANT IN TIME

Hunter's Narrow Escape From Huge Brute Which He Had Wounded and Maddened With Pain.

Capt. C. H. Stigand tells in his new book, "Hunting the Elephant in Africa," of a narrow escape he had from a young bull elephant. The animal had charged the hunting party, with the usual result that the natives fled at their best speed. He dodged sharply from the path of the enemy and tripped over a fallen tree, dropping his rifle and just managing to seize it by the muzzle as the elephant was about to tread on it. He then dived head foremost into the branches of the fallen tree. "I made frantic efforts to crawl through, but a stout branch resisted my progress, and at the same moment the Galangwa pushed in after me and pushed me through the branches to the other side. Two drops of blood from his forehead fell on my shorts, one on the thigh and one on the knee. Instead of pushing me straight through in front of him, though, he kicked me sideways. The impetus he gave me bent aside the stubborn branch and the next moment I found myself crawling out on hands and knees on one side of the tree, with rifle still grasped by the muzzle, whilst the elephant was executing a dance and stamping up the ground the other side, five yards from me, evidently thinking that I was under his feet.

"I quickly changed my rifle round and discharged it into his stern. It was the last cartridge in the rifle. Having fired, the rifle was taken out of my hands, and I found Matola, who had counted the shots, standing beside me, serving me the second rifle as a waiter might offer a dish. By some oversight it had not been loaded and I had given strict orders that none of my men were ever to load or unload my rifles. Being a good soldier, Matola had not disobeyed this order, even under these extreme circumstances, but had gone the nearest to loading it he could.

"The breach was open and he was holding the clip in position with his thumb just over the magazine. All I had to do was to press it down as I took hold of the rifle, close the bolt, and I was ready to fire. The elephant was turning round and I shot him in the brain, dropping him dead."

Short Is Man's Life.

Remember, that man's life lies all within this present, as 'twere but a hair's breadth of time; as for the rest, the past is gone, the future yet unseen. Short, therefore, is man's life, and narrow is the corner of the earth wherein he dwells.—Marcus Aurelius.

Jobs Waiting.

Good positions far exceed the supply of good material available to all them.—Columbus Ohio State Journal.

FOUR DOLLARS

Causes Long and Expensive Telephone Suit.

Washington, March 27.—Whether telephone companies may cut off service to an individual because of failure to pay a bill for "past service" may be passed upon by the supreme court.

Mrs. Adelia P. Danaher, of Little Rock, Ark., has obtained a judgment for $6,300 damages against the Southwestern Telegraph and Telephone company for cutting off her telephone service for 63 days. The company appealed to the supreme court for a reversal and the court has taken the case under advisement. Mrs. Danaher filed a brief prepared by herself.

The supreme court of Arkansas held that a telephone company, being a public servant, cannot refuse to serve any one of the public in that capacity in which it has undertaken to serve the house when such one offers to pay its rates and abide by its reasonable regulations. The court held it could not refuse to serve an individual until payment of a debt contracted for services rendered in the past.

The telephone company claimed that Mrs. Danaher owed it four dollars for two months rental. She claimed that she had paid this rental and held receipts therefore.

Real Estate Deals.

Mr. R. L. Horn has sold his handsome residence and two vacant lots in Lafayette to Mr. A. B. Lander, the consideration being $4000. Mr. Lander has in turn sold his present home to his brother, Hugh J. Lander. Possession will be given September 1, in both cases. Mr. Horn's future plans have not been made known.

Girl Triplets.

Danville, Ky., March 25.—Mr. and Mrs. Garfield Helm, who reside south-west of here, are rejoicing over the arrival of three daughters weighing exactly six pounds each. They have been named Lula, Eula and Beulah.

Lea's Knock-out.

Federal Judge Evans' decision in favor of the L. & N. in the Interstate Commerce Commission investigation is regarded in Washington as a blow at the Lea resolution in the Senate.

For Rent.

Seven room cottage on W. 17th street. Electric light, water and free sewerage. Rent $240. CHAS. M. MEACHAM.

Farm Sold.

The David Wootton farm near Pee Dee, owned by Hon. Austin Peay and the estate of the late Jas. D. Coleman, has been sold to B. F. Allen, of near Clarksville, for $3,500.

Still in Doubt.

With four-fifths of the vote of Arkansas counted, the result of the contest between Senator Clark and Judge Kirby for United States Senator is still in doubt.

VISION OF COMING CIRCUS

It is to Be Feared Little Willie Had Utterior Purpose in Writing to His Aunt.

Dear Auntie—I did not rite to you for a long time now which is not credit to me because Henry Begg told me he yooosoo have an aunt very much like you and he did not rite to her for a long time and one day his mother came in very sad and said to Henry your aunt died yesterday and when he thought of how she died without getten an ansur to her last letter it almost brook his hart and for a long time he could not eat the rest of his dinner.

The trouble is that when we are young and helthy we do not think of how our relatives are old and aptoo die any time at all and so we do not rite as often as we otto and are sorry afterwurd when it is too late.

Henry Begg was tellen me about his aunt yesterday and how she yooosoo send him presents and sumtimes munney when there was a serkus comen which the nearest one now is two weeks from Wensday.

This makes it all the sadder for Henry. The price of tickets to a serkus is a kworter for boys the sighs of us and Henry's aunt yooosoo always send him fifty sence for two tickets if he should wanto take another boy with him as they often do.

The serkus witch is comen here two weeks from Wensday is Simmons & Sapp's world's greatest nickul platted three rings ne plus ulter peerless aerial marvel equine sensation and zoologicale ageration with the world famous Roamin Hipperdroom and selfebrated artists in the sublimest spectacles ever staged for the edification of Man witch I copied from the bills as nearly as possibel and it looks as if it was goom to be a pretty good show. I gess all the boys are goen exsept Henry and me witch are not surten but hoapful. Two weeks from Wensday.—Saturday Evening Post.

MERELY MATTER OF BUSINESS

"Shop Talk" of Kind, However, That Would Give an Ordinary Man the Shivers.

He looked so smooth and shiny and altogether so correctly dressed, as if he was ready to break into or out of half mourning, that it was certain he was an undertaker. He had that Mona Lisa expression that comes to a man when he buys his first assortment of satin lined caskets and puts out his sign "The tariff does it. You can be buried now 24 per cent. cheaper than you could a year ago. Why delay?"

A fat, jovial person jumped the claim to half the seat in the car. His black kid gloves, a black Ascot tie and a clerical collar that buttoned at the back, with rounded corners just failing to meet, labeled him as being of the same trade.

"Business good? Lots of people dying out your way?" asked the jolly one.

"Only fair, nothing to boast of. But there's an epidemic of typhoid at Jonestown, and there's scarlet fever broke out in the school over at Smithville. Looks as if there might be something doing pretty soon."

Want Simple English.

"Yes," said the earnest professor, "what we want in literature is direct and simple English."

The listeners gravely nodded. "Direct and simple," they echoed. "Those conglomerated effusions of vapid intellects," the professor went on, "which posed in lamentable attitudes as the emotional and intellectual ingredients of fictional realism fall far short of the obvious requirements of contemporary demands and violate the traditional methods of the transcendent minds of the Elizabethan era of glorious memory. Plain, and simple English is the demand of the hour."

Whereupon everybody applauded and went home.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Lead Balls Do Not Rebound.

Make two equal balls of lead, shoot them about on a billiard table, and you will observe some actions that seem extraordinary. In the first place, if they strike each other head on they come to a dead stop; they do not rebound, for lead has no elasticity.

If they strike each other at an angle the result is what is called a "couple;" the balls rotate around each other for a part of one turn, and each moves off in a straight line tangent to the circle in which they are moving.

Dyes From Sawdust.

For many years the French have extracted coloring dyes from sawdust. The sawdust, it appears, is acted upon by sulphur and caustic soda in a furnace. Sulphuretted hydrogen is liberated in large quantities and the vegetable substance, whatever it may be, is rendered soluble in water, to which it imparts a strong color, varying with the substance employed. These solutions are employed as dyes, which are fixed by passing the fabric through boiling bichromate of potash.

Unexpected Results.

The small man was feeling uncomfortably crushed in the crowded street car when a brilliant inspiration flashed into his head.

He turned to the big man near him "I hope you don't object to riding beside a smallpox patient, do you?" he inquired as the car slowed down at the stopping place.

"No; but some of the other passengers might," replied the big man, and, taking him by the shoulders, he threw the schemer out into the road.
